

Spike

Implementation focused on trying out a single functionality concept, without concern for the full complexity of the feature