

1.0 has been released

This version should contain all the functionality needed to run a production bit repository. See release notes for an overview of the new features in this release